BCP designation list

Border Control Posts (BCPs) & Control Points for July 1 2022– Existing and Planned.

Please view the planned Border Control Points in development for 1 July 2022 by clicking here.

The information includes the following:

For England, Scotland and Wales: Facility name, website, commodities already designated (existing BCP), commodities requested awaiting designation and additional specifications regarding the scope of the designation.

If you have any enquires regarding the commodities listed please contact the Ports directly. Defra is unable to provide any further information on the timeline for completion of designation.

It is important to note that 6 outstanding BCPs/ICs/CPs have yet to give consent to publish this information; we will continue to follow up with these ports an update as when we get the permission to publish their detail.

Disclaimer

This preliminary list provides information on those sites which are anticipated as potentially being designated BCPs across GB and Control Points, subject to the completion of the process for designating BCPs. It should be noted that inclusion on this list does not mean that these ports will be designated as BCPs.

DEFRA stress that no commercial decision or other form of reliance should be taken upon these details until designation is confirmed.
